Note: cited (with pictures of the covers of the series) Caldwell Catalogue 1900-1901, p.35 (price 50¢). The ebay source did not show the title page, however, all of the other titles in this series I have seen use the 1898c [2] title page that I infer above. In addition, other titles in this 1900 series are in the same uniform cover but are in different background cloth colors: dark tan, bright orange, blue, pale purplish blue, and yellow (for examples see Miriam Snow Mathes Collection, State University of New York, Albany). Perhaps Pinocchio appears in one of these other cloth colors as well.

1900 c [1] . Pinocchio's Adventures. Translated from Italian. 212pp. (© Jordan, Marsh 1898). "The Empyrean Library" ser, n.152.

Note: cited (with pictures of the covers of the series) Caldwell Catalogue 1900-1901, pp.32-33. In addition there are other titles in this 1900 series in the same uniform cover but in a brighter shade of green (different from 1900c [1]), tan, and bright orangish-tan (for examples see Miriam Snow Mathes Collection, State University of New York, Albany). Perhaps Pinocchio appears in one of these other cloth colors as well.

1900 c [2] . Pinocchio's Adventures. Translated from Italian. 212pp. (© Jordan, Marsh 1898). "The Empyrean Library" ser, n.152.

TP: pl, s.a. 1898c [2]. Src: Richard Wunderlich. RSSUD 1898b.

Note: cited (with pictures of the covers of the series) Caldwell Catalogue 1900-1901, p.37. The information above is inferred from 2 Rudyard Kipling titles (Mine Own People and Poems), Lakeside ser set 2 (where the series uniform cover is deep brown or deep maroon); the missing Kipling title is Light That Failed. Presumably, based on these two volumes, the books in each set were of the same color (though the colors of each of the twelve sets might be different).
